Mission

The Australian Social Monitor aims to monitor and analyse important social, political, and economic trends and attitudes. Our goal is to publish work that is based on authoritative results from rigorous quantitative analyses that are peer-reviewed and based on large, representative national sample surveys. Articles on economic sociology, labour economics, social and economic policy, electoral behaviour, and the determinants of social, economic, and political attitudes are particularly welcome. Family, education, work, inequality, and public opinion are key topics.

Publication schedule

Transition to four-issue volumes. Australian Social Monitor, Volume 4: issues will be published in June, August, October, and December 2001. Beginning with Volume 5, the Australian Social Monitor will be published four times a year in February, May, August, and November. There will be a corresponding reduction in the cost of subscriptions.

Ordering the *Australian Social Monitor

Information for subscribers is on the inside back cover. Back issues may be obtained from the Publications Office, Melbourne Institute of Applied Economic and Social Research, The University of Melbourne, Victoria 3010, Australia (tel: +61 3 8344 3701; fax: +61 3 8344 5630).

Thank you

The first issue of this new volume of the Australian Social Monitor marks an appropriate occasion to thank the colleagues whose thorough and thoughtful reviews of articles submitted to the ASM have contributed so greatly to the journal. First, let us thank our editorial board (see inside front cover) for their labours in the peer review process. The Australian Social Monitor is also indebted to the following colleagues for refereeing articles for the journal.
